The Ever Evolving Art of Learning and Teaching

Let us take a moment to reflect on the noble profession of teaching and how it has evolved over time. A teacher can always say, "I am responsible for the change in this child's life and these children changed mine too."

The role of a teacher is not just to impart knowledge, but to expand a child's horizon, nurture curiosity and guide her/him towards mastery. Teachers continuously upskill themselves, adapt to new methods and are never afraid to take calculated risks to improve learning outcomes. Centuries ago, the Teacher was the trainer and the content.

At Smrti Academy, we believe that the journey of becoming a teacher begins with love for the child, love for the subject, reading and imagination. Beyond text books and videos, our teachers become the content too. Every one of us has the potential to be a teacher — by sharing knowledge, insights and life lessons that others can benefit from.

Equally important is being a lifelong learner. Great teachers remain open to new ideas, learning tips and inspiration from others, constantly growing alongside their students. In this way, teaching becomes not just a profession, but a commitment to learning, sharing and shaping minds.
